KyberPass secures Scotland Yard's computers

By Jeff Jedras, InBusiness Media Network

An Ottawa company has a connection to Scotland Yard. Technology from Kyberpass Corp. and a partner has been selected by the U.K.'s Metropolitan Police Service to secure its computer network.

Kyberpass and Irish company Baltimore Technologies, both companies specializing in e-security software, will provide the infrastructure necessary to secure, protect and authenticate the 50,000 members of the police force to enable trusted access to sensitive information.

"Kyberpass Corporation is very pleased to have been selected by one of the world's most respected police forces," said David Lynch, managing director of Kyberpass Europe. "Their selection of Baltimore UniCERT and Kyberpass PKI-middleware is a testament to the strong partnership and technical interoperability that our companies enjoy."

Kyberpass is a member of the Baltimore TrustedWorld partner program.
